

THE BOURBON NEWS.

SEMI-WEEKLY.

VOL. I.

PARIS, BOURBON COUNTY, KENTUCKY: FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 17, 1882.

NO. 74.

Snow in Louisville Tuesday.

GASS & HANLY received 50 wagon loads of corn Saturday by noon.

THEY say that Armstrong Bros' Minstrels are simply immense.

THE K. C. has down a new side-track where our old depot stood.

ED. MARSHALL formerly of Ky., was elected Attorney General of California.

THERE are double as many cases of small-pox now in Cincinnati, as there were at this time last year.

SMALL-POX is so bad at Gallatin, Tenn., that the City Council of Franklin, Ky., has quarantined against it.

GREEN KELLER threatens to run for Congress in the 9th district and redeem it, providing no one else will.

An enricher of the blood and purifier of the system; cures lassitude and lack of energy; such is Brown's Iron Bitters.

KENTUCKY had better buy the Granite State, instead of paying $500 damages for five bullet holes in the side of the boat.

THE Alice Oates Opera Company will shortly appear at Odd Fellows' Hall in the favorite "Mascotte," on December 1st.

THE last tunnel on the K. C. extension is about completed, the road is ready for the ties, and the cars will soon run into Richmond.

IN Lexington 1,200 white and 900 colored school children are enrolled, the average daily attendance of whites 900 and colored 500.

A BLACK Irish with a nine-pounds ripe live "possum," formed a happy, good natured, grinning couple going down street the other day.

MAYSVILLE, Winchester and other points are forming new military companies. Winchester wants all of her men six feet high.

CAPT. KIRKER, of the steamer Granite State, has put in a bill of $1,031 for transportation of the State Guards and damages to his boat.

IT'S about time for the wives of all the Democratic chickens to quit crowing and come home to cackling, and put down the price of eggs.

An invaluable strengthener for the nerves, muscles, and digestive organs, producing strength and appetite, is Brown's Iron Bitters.

HURLEY, the Emmet Guard of Maysville, died of his wound in the leg at Ashland. He was accidentally wounded by letting his pistol fall. Gangrene in the wound caused his death.

MR. INGALLS, president of the K. C. road, says he will make Paris a larger town than Lexington after a short while. He wants our citizens to donate four or five acres of land for machine shops.

SEE advertisement of $10,000 worth of gold and silver jewelry at assignee's sale of the New York Jewelry Co. These goods are no sham, and will be sold on approbation—"you no like 'em, you no take 'em."

DECALCOMANIE or silk transfer pictures, Foster & Sanders, just as durable and handsome as hand painting, and a child can transfer them. Call and examine them. We make no charge for instructions.

THE Kentucky Central railroad was fined $100 by the Circuit Court for obstructing travel on Main street in Winchester. The Big Sandy was fined one cent and costs on a similar charge. Why such a difference?

AT the reunion of Morgan's command at Lexington Monday, about 150 of the boys marched through the hall of the residence of Mrs. Morgan, and shook the hand of the mother of the general, and received a "God bless you," while great tears stood in her eyes.

MRS. KIRBY, who has long been an invalid, has so far regained health as to be able to set up in business again. She is now agent for Moody's new system of dress cutting for ladies and children's garments. Her rooms are at Mrs. Dohrers, on High Street.

WHEN you go to Cincinnati, stop at the Crawford House. It is located on 6th and Walnut, convenient to business, and is the general headquarters for the Kentucky trade. Fare, $2 per day. You get comfortable accommodations and don't have to pay for any undue agony.

THE Armstrong Bros' Minstrels are billed for Odd Fellows' Hall Monday night. This troupe consists of 25 members, and is said to be equal to that of Milt Barlow's or any other troupe on the road. The burning of the Frankfort Opera House threw this troupe out a night; hence their advent into to so small a place.

The "Merry Pathfinders."

Partly in way of retaliation for an invidious and discourteous act shown the News by the Advance Agent of the above troupe, and partly judging it by the last several preceding it, we were led to do it an injustice in our last Tuesday's issue. We attended their entertainment Wednesday evening, and we are candid in our confession that it was the funniest entertainment on the boards here this season. Indeed, it was very chaste and select all the way through, and the "Scraps" were gleaned from high literature.

In further condemnation of the Advance Agent and justification to the troupe, the managers confessed to us that their shallow brained man had made false returns of having extended courtesies to the three city papers alike; thus showing that he had been wrought upon by some malicious and cowardly scoundrel who had not the nerve to approach the News as a brave man and a gentleman for the adjustment of his wrongs.

While we were probably wrong to a certain extent in assailing the troupe in order to gaff the man who first gaffed us, we deemed it the only speedy and available way in bringing the matter to the management in a forcible and effective manner.

There may not be much christianity in our little motto: "You gaff me, and I'll gaff you," but then there's a principle in it that's liable to bring around a certain amount of justice and courtesy that is due from man to man.

"Strictly Business."

What Mark Twain has done with his "Tramp" and "Innocent," Gunter has, to some extent, condensed into his "Fresh" and "Strictly Business." The dramas are evidently fashioned from the same plan, and many grotesque situations spring from the same inspiration. Those who have read William Black's excellent novel, "Sunrise," will realize in the Nihilistic plots and entanglements of "Strictly Business," a capital burlesque. Bishop as Phineas P. Philkins is of course the central figure. He is a big reservoir of fun, with a countenance which would be his fortune in any climate. An American drummer whom trichinosis had ruined, whom Nihilism had entangled and whom marriage had wholly upset, Bishop was indiscribably immense. His wits never deserted him even under a combination of evils which would have swamped any nationality save an irrepressible Yankee, he lives to retrieve his good luck, save the life of the Czar and redeem the love of a brilliant spouse. The play leaves him in a blissful state of condensed milk and consecrated honeymoon, and the palm of good humor is awarded him from beginning to end. Miss Rose Osborne, as Countess Oranoff, was much admired for a fine person and some excellent acting; Miss Magnus, as the Princess Vera, was handsome, dignified and attractive. Mr. Hastings' Malakoff was stately and striking, and the entire support very good. Mr. Frank W. Paul, the efficient manager, is a gentleman who is an ornament to the profession, and has the troupe well in hand.—(Augusta (Ga.) Sentinel.)

Bourbon County Court of Claims.

The Magistrates of the County sit in Court of Claims session Wednesday, and in addition to awarding the stated salaries to the County officers and allowing the small claims, such as working roads, &c., transacted the following business:

Donated $280 to each of the bridges across Hinkston at Young's and Fishback's fords, and $500 to the bridge across Boone's Lick, on the Flat Rock and Caldwell's Mill pike, and levied an assessment of 1 cent on the County lists for same.

The Doctors Fithian, of Paris, were awarded the contract for furnishing medical treatment and medicines for the paupers, at $450 per annum.

Dr. J. W. Righter, of Ruddles Mills, physician to the paupers of Ruddles Mills and the Poor House, at $200 per annum.

Dr. S. W. Brown, physician to the paupers of North Middletown, at $100 per annum.

Henry Spears was elected County Treasurer.

Will Myall was elected School Commissioner over Prof. W. H. Lockhart, the present incumbent, on a vote of 9 to 7, and Squire Amos Jameson, of the Millersburg precinct, elected Turnpike Commissioner over Frank B. Kennedy, the present incumbent, by a vote of 9 to 7. The Court also stood 9 to 7 against abolishing the latter office.

Dr. T. C. Herndon, one of Nicholas county's most valued citizens, has been quite ill for several days, but the prospect of his recovery are now favorable.

Col. Craddock, of the True Kentuckian, has been suffering a slight attack from pleurisy, caused by the sudden change in the weather.

JOHN BUTCHER, of Fleming county, fell from the steamer Morning Mail at Maysville while drunk, and was drowned, Tuesday morning.

It is now reported that Badge Hukill sold that mare to a nigger, for a string of fish, on an unlimited credit.

SOCIETY SCINTILLATIONS.

Kentucky has 208 newspapers. General Butler is sixty-four years of age.

"Who-a-thought-it" is the name of a new railroad town in Georgia.

It costs nothing to be polite, but it comes rather high sometimes to not be.

Henry Clay, formerly of this city, has fallen back from St. Louis, to a position in Louisville.

Joe Blackburn is billed for a bird and rabbit hunt in Harrison county, on Thanksgiving day.

"Ep" is the name of a postoffice in Owen county, and "O. K." the name of one in Lincoln county.

New dresses have to be worn slightly elevated to show those beautiful scarlet embroidered balmorals.

Short-waisted and long-tailed overcoats are to be the style among the too utter swells the coming season.

When the male brute who browbeats his wife when they are in company is generally afraid to open his mouth when they are alone.

Mrs. Ben Ingels, of Oakland Mills, formerly a member of the Presbyterian Church, was immersed into the Christian Church faith here last Sunday.

Something new in teapots is dark blue majolica inlaid with gold and having a heavy gold rope for a handle. It is a great success as a table ornament.

A Brazilian has arrived in the South with twenty-two ostriches, and will run an ostrich farm. The birds are worth $1,400 each. By raising the feathers here, a duty of 20 per cent. is saved.

A new floral invention for this season's wedding receptions, says a Boston paper, is a four-leaf clover in violets and roses with the initials of the bride and bridegroom. It must hang before a mirror.

Rev. E. M. McMillen will not preach in Falmouth as he announced to his congregation last Sabbath, but will fill his fill his own pulpit next Sabbath morning and evening.

During the coming winter, it has been calculated that 9,000 old maids will recite an original piece of poetry, entitled "Lips that touch liquor shall never touch mine," at different temperance meetings in the Union.

A chambermaid in a country hotel in Pennsylvania, attempted to drive a nail with the butt end of a revolver. The jewelry man across the street never did get his $1.25 for the paste diamond earrings which he sold her.

MILLERSBURG.

Linnie, daughter of Joe T. Batson, died of diphtheria, on Tuesday.

Mrs. Charlie Turner, of near Millersburg, has taken board with Mrs. John Gass, who is now running the Ireland boarding house. Mrs. Turner is receiving medical treatment from Dr. Vansant.

Wm. Davis has decided not to run his distillery here this season, on account of there being already too much whiskey in the country. He looks for legislation in the next Congress for the relief of whiskey men.

"Uncle" Dan Smith has returned home, after a six weeks' visit to the country. His friends were all glad to see him at a great distance. He had been waiting on the Hughes and Fishback families who had the small-pox on upper Hinkston.

"Hub" Ashbrook, well-known in this town in ante bellum days, has been arrested in Cincinnati by the firm of A. R. Clark & Co., for which he was bookkeeper. It appears that in overhauling the books, a forced balance with $65 shortage was made in April. Ashbrook admits the shortage, but denies the appropriation of the money, and says that he cannot account for it. In default of $500, he was committed to jail.

The Trader, Turfman, Farmer and Sportsman.

Hunters are now in the field, and report game tolerably plentiful.

Billy Caldwell, of near Moorefield, sold to Dr. Tilton, of Carlisle Monday, an Alderney heifer for $160.

The Supreme Court has decided that a horse race is not a game, and persons engaged in it cannot be indicted under the gaming law.

W. H. Wilson, Cynthia, K., has purchased the pedigreeless watch-smasher, Joe Ray. Joe is a bay gelding, with a record of 2:23.

At C. F. Scott's sale of short-horns near North Middletown Wednesday, 31 Young Mary Females averaged $86, and aggregated $2,665. Three males aggregated $235.

Wednesday, on the farm of Thos. H. Clay, Mr. W. G. Conner to Miss Phoebe Kimbrell. After the ceremony, the two started on a tour to the mountains of East Kentucky, driving a twenty-three-years-old horse to a buggy.

The marriage of Miss Jennie Swift, daughter of Charlie Swift, of Clark county, to Dabney Patrish, took place Wednesday. The trousseau was made in this city. The dress was cream satin and moire, cut princess in the back and basque in front. It was trimmed very full with Duchess lace of rare beauty and value. The veil was illusion looped with diamond ornaments, and the flowers were crushed roses and lilies of the valley. The outfit is said to have been the finest ever gotten up in this city.
